

Municipality of Anchorage Alaska

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the 501(c)(3) National Pink Tie Organization (NPTO) with our vision for every man to wear a pink tie, has a mission to support the fight against cancer, to raise awareness, educate and empower communities across the nation about cancer; and

WHEREAS, when Tucson's Executive Chef Isaac was stricken with cancer he focused on what he loved most, which was cooking and pleasing people with his magnificent meals, which gave him the love and strength he needed to sustain his fight, until the cancer eventually took his life; and

WHEREAS, the NPTO has teamed with Chefs Against Cancer with over 400,000 chefs and professional volunteers to provide support to those who are stricken with cancer by preparing healthy foods that comforts, heals and restores strength to those who are ill; and

WHEREAS, Isaac's story has motivated a great movement among chefs, physicians, nutritionists and fitness trainers promoting healthy living and cooking healthy meals, which inspired the Masters Chefs Care Program, with chefs in Tucson and now across the nation enjoying fellow chef camaraderie and sharing new recipes, cutting edge culinary techniques, new trends and tricks to prepare healthy consommés for healthy lifestyles and to restore strength to those who are ill; and

WHEREAS, chefs deserve our recognition and appreciation and Isaac's story has motivated NPTO Chefs across the nation to focus on the joy of preparing healthy meals and the satisfaction and contentment one feels when finishing a well-prepared meal; and

NOW, THEREFORE, In Dan Sullivan, Mayor of Anchorage, Alaska, do hereby proclaim August 16, 2014, as the 2nd Annual

CHEF'S APPRECIATION DAY

IN Anchorage and I join all local residents support the efforts of the National Pink Tie Organization, a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization, for their efforts in supporting the fight against cancer and I encourage all local citizens to thank our chefs.
